HAVE YOU READ IT?

Have you read President Wilson's Thanksgiving proclamation? It was printed in Section 3 of The Herald of October 28. If you are too busy during week days to read it, look it up and read it next Sunday. It is good Sunday reading.

ALFALFA

"A Little Talk on Alfalfa, the World's Greatest Forage Plant," is the title of a booklet issued by Carlisle Commission Co., Live Stock Exchange, Kansas City, Mo. It contains much valuable and interesting information in small space. A copy may be had free upon request and is well worth writing for.

STOCKMEN'S EDITIONS

The stockmen's edition of The Herald for November will be published next week and for next month on December 16. Merchants will do well to make a liberal use of these two numbers and the intervening issues to get their advertisements before the people prior to the Holidays.

REJOICING IN DEFEAT

At the recent election on the question of adopting woman suffrage in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts, the proposition was snowed under, but the increase in sentiment favorable to the proposition in those states has been so marked within the last year or two that the advocates of the cause are rejoicing in their defeat. They claim that, with the tide of public sentiment running as it has been recently, it will take only a few more years to carry the eastern states, as well as the western, for equal suffrage.

MENTION THE PAPER

When newspaper readers mention to advertisers that they saw their advertisement, and name the paper, it is an accommodation, both to advertiser and publisher. Business houses that advertise extensively and experienced newspaper men are well aware that much of the benefit to be derived from advertising is indirect. It furnishes a helpful publicity that assists in directing business towards the advertiser that cannot always be traced to the advertisements; but for all that, advertisers are always pleased when customers or prospective customers mention that they saw their advertisements. It is a favor to newspaper publishers, also, when readers of their papers mention to advertisers, either personally or in writing, that they saw their advertisements.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

In the death of Booker T. Washington, which occurred at Tuskegee, Alabama, on Monday of this week, the colored people of this country have lost a wise counsellor and great leader. More than that, the nation as a whole has suffered a distinct loss, because Dr. Washington was one of the leading educators of America, regardless of color, and a most remarkable man.

He was born in slavery, about five years before President Lincoln's emancipation proclamation freed the negroes. He determined to secure an education, and worked his way thru General Armstrong's school for negroes at Hampton, Va., graduating from an academic course in 1875, while yet a boy in his teens.

An honorary degree of master of arts was conferred upon him by Harvard university in 1896, and in 1891 he was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws by Dartmouth college. He is best known for his work as the head of Tuskegee Institute, which he founded in 1881.

The biography of Dr. Washington would make an interesting book and would furnish helpful inspiration to the youths of either white or colored race.

IN THE FIELD EARLY

One of the first persons in Nebraska to issue his announcement as a candidate for nomination for governor of Nebraska, at the primaries next April, is Hon. S. R. McKelvie of Lincoln, publisher of The Nebraska Farmer. Mr. McKelvie was formerly lieutenant governor and having been publisher of The Nebraska Farmer for many years, he is well known throughout the state, and we may say, favorably known.

At the last state election in Kansas, the voters of the Sunflower state elected Arthur Capper, well known publisher of agricultural and other papers, to the office of governor of that state. His administration is popular with the people of that state and is generally considered a success. This fact will no doubt be helpful to Mr. McKelvie's candidacy among Nebraska republicans who have watched the course of the present Kansas chief executive.

Mr. McKelvie being a newspaper man, The Herald is disposed to give him a more extended notice than it otherwise would, but space cannot be spared in this issue for the publication of his announcement entire. Briefly stated, following are some of the things which he favors and which interest the people of the state as a whole:

Prohibition.—"In this," he says, "my position is not a matter of policy—it is my conscientious belief that the prohibition amendment should prevail." He points to his record as a member of the legislature to show that it is clear on this question. While making a frank statement of his attitude on this issue, he does not base his candidacy on that, but says that there are other equally important issues over which the chief executive will have much greater influence and responsibility.

Efficiency and Economy.—Instead of raising a cry for "economy," regardless of the character of public service, he favors efficiency as the basis of true economy, declaring that "efficiency is economy."

Water Power.—The question of developing the water power of the state is a live issue. Mr. McKelvie says that the development of water power in Nebraska is badly needed, and that he will favor any method of accomplishing this that will safeguard the interests of the people. "If done by private capital," he says, "the title to all water power sites should be held in perpetuity by the state."

Other Questions.—Other matters mentioned in his announcement are reform legislation, qualifications of governor, agriculture, manufacturing, merchandising, labor, community interest, education, rural schools, industrial training, and good roads.

STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Beef Trade Is Slow and Steady to Lower.

KOSS DECLINE BIG 15 CENTS

Killing Sheep and Lambs 10@15c
Lower—Best Fat Lambs $8.70—
Feeders Active and Steady—Good
Lambs $8.60.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Nov. 16.—Only a moderate run of cattle arrived yesterday, about 9,000 head. The corn fed cattle trade was rather dull and prices were unevenly lower all around. Dressed beef men were better buyers of the grass beefs than of the corn fed and the trade was reasonably brisk as far as attractive grassers were concerned. A better inquiry for stockers and feeders also put more life into the trade, although it was a dull and uncertain market for the in-between cattle that did not appeal to either the killers or feeder buyers. On the whole it looked like a steady trade. Cows and heifers were in fairly active demand at steady to a shade stronger figures. In stockers and feeders the best stock of all weights sold to better advantage than last week, while common to fair kinds showed little or no improvement.

Cattle quotations: Prime beefs, $9.50@10.00; good to choice beefs, $8.75@9.25; fair to good beefs, $7.75@8.50; common to fair beefs, $6.50@7.50; good to choice yearlings, $8.75@9.50; fair to good yearlings, $7.75@8.50; common to fair yearlings, $6.50@7.75; good to choice grass heifers, $7.75@8.75; good to choice grass cows, $5.50@6.25; fair to good cows, $4.80@5.40; canners and cutters, $3.75@4.75; veal calves, $8.50@9.50; bulls, stags, etc., $4.00@5.75; good to choice feeders, $7.40@8.00; fair to good feeders, $6.50@7.25; common to fair feeders, $5.50@6.50; good to choice stockers, $7.50@8.00; fair to good stockers, $6.50@7.25; common to fair stockers, $5.50@6.50; stock heifers, $5.75@6.75; stock cows, $4.50@5.75; stock calves, $6.00@8.00; prime grass beefs, $7.75@8.25; good to choice grass steers, $7.25@7.75; fair to good grass steers, $6.50@7.20; common to fair steers, $5.50@6.60.

A moderate supply of hogs showed up yesterday, some 3,700 head. The market was a big 15c lower than the close of last week. All markets feel the effect of the heavy run at Chicago. Bulk of the supply moved at $6.35@6.40, and tops reached $6.50.

Sheep and lamb receipts totaled 24,000 head. The fat lamb market was fairly active, but prices were generally 10@15c lower than the close of last week. Best here brought $8.70, with the bulk of the fair to good stuff moving downward to $8.50. Feeder outfit was broad, and while the feeding lambs made up a good share of the offerings, they moved readily on a steady basis. Good light and medium weight feeders made $6.60. Fat ewes sold about a dime to 15c lower than last week's close. Good ewes of desirable weight reached $5.50.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $8.50@8.70; lambs, fair to good, $8.40@8.60; lambs, feeders, $7.75@8.50; yearlings, fair to choice, $6.00@6.75; yearlings, feeders, $5.00@5.70; wethers, fair to choice, $5.50@6.00; ewes, good to choice, $4.25@5.50; ewes, fair to good, $4.75@5.25; ewes, feeders, $4.50@5.15.

The regular State Teachers' Examination will be held at the Court House on November 19th and 20th. MISS OPAL RUSSELL, County Superintendent.

We have lots of young ladies and lots of pert misses but the sweet, old-fashioned girls of ever so long ago have vanished along with the poke bonnet and cinnamon cookies.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.
